

Student Support, Diversity, Inclusion and Wellbeing Policy and Procedure

1. Purpose

This policy ensures that all students have fair and equitable access to appropriate training support, that diversity is respected and inclusion is promoted throughout the student journey, and that student wellbeing needs are identified and addressed to enable progression through training and assessment.

2. Rationale

As part of its obligations under the Standards for RTOs 2025, ACBI is required to:

- Provide adequate training support services;
- Make reasonable adjustments for students with disability;
- Promote a learning environment that values diversity and inclusion; and
- Implement strategies to support student wellbeing relevant to the cohort.

These strategies contribute to equitable student experiences, progression and completions, and ensure compliance with national legislation including the Disability Standards for Education 2005.

3. Policy Statement

ACBI is committed to creating a learning environment where every student feels safe, supported, respected, and empowered to succeed. We recognise that learners bring diverse backgrounds, capabilities, and needs, and we are dedicated to removing barriers that may impact participation, progression, or wellbeing throughout the training journey.

This policy outlines ACBI's proactive and student-centred approach to support services, diversity and inclusion practices, and wellbeing safeguards. Our objective is to provide timely, accessible, and appropriate support tailored to individual student circumstances, whether related to language, literacy and numeracy (LLN), disability, mental health, cultural identity, or socio-economic disadvantage.

We actively monitor student progress and engagement to identify support needs early and intervene responsively. Our trainers and staff are trained to make reasonable adjustments in training and assessment, promote inclusive practices, and escalate wellbeing concerns in line with internal protocols and external referral networks. The delivery of support is embedded in everyday operations and informed by principles of dignity, equity, and cultural safety.

ACBI strives to foster a respectful and welcoming environment that reflects and values the diversity of our student population. We believe that every learner, regardless of their background, has the right to a high-quality education experience that is equitable, empowering, and aligned with their goals.

ACBI is committed to providing a learning and support environment that is free from discrimination, harassment, and victimisation. In accordance with Commonwealth and state legislation, we uphold the rights of all students to be treated with dignity and fairness, regardless of age, race, gender, sexual orientation, disability, cultural background, religion, or any other protected attribute. All students and staff are expected to contribute to a respectful and inclusive learning environment where diversity is celebrated and discrimination is not tolerated.

Student wellbeing is recognised as a shared responsibility and is supported through orientation, targeted interventions, flexible learning arrangements, and structured support pathways. This policy also ensures that under-18 students (where applicable), international students, and vulnerable learners are afforded additional protections under regulatory frameworks, including the Standards for RTOs 2025 and the National Code 2018.

8. Procedure

To ensure that all students are supported equitably throughout their training journey, ACBI implements a structured, student-centred support process.

All support planning and service delivery at ACBI is underpinned by anti-discrimination principles. During the enrolment process and throughout training, students are encouraged to disclose any support needs (via the application form) or experiences of unfair treatment. Where a student identifies potential discrimination, staff are required to report the concern to the Compliance Manager for confidential review.

Reasonable adjustments are offered in a manner that ensures equal opportunity for students with disability or other support needs, and all decisions are documented in the Student File. No student will be disadvantaged or treated unfavourably as a result of requesting support or exercising their right to equitable treatment.

Identifying Support Needs

The first step occurs at enrolment, where students have the opportunity to disclose any disability or wellbeing concerns in the application form or at any later stage in their enrolment. Where necessary, students undertake a Language, Literacy, Numeracy and Digital (LLND) assessment to determine any potential barriers to learning.

In addition to the initial LLND assessment, a thorough review of the student's application and supporting documents is used to explore the student's background, prior education, and support expectations in greater depth.

Providing Training Support

Students are informed about the available support services in the pre-enrolment information and enrolment acceptance agreement. Additional information about the support services available is provided during orientation and at the start of the course. Trainers and student services staff advise students on how to access academic support, LLN services, IT assistance, wellbeing resources, and additional one-on-one support. Details about contact points and service hours are also provided. Students can expect responses to support queries within 2 business days.

Examples of support may include additional trainer consultations, modified learning materials, anxiety management strategies, study skills coaching, time management plans, and referral to external counselling services.

Where support needs are complex, a formal Student Support Plan will be arranged and documented in the Student Management System. These records ensure actions and responsibilities are clearly agreed and tracked.

Progress in Monitored

Throughout the training program, student engagement and progress are monitored by trainers and the Training Manager. If risk indicators arise, such as irregular attendance, delayed or missed assessments, or signs of disengagement, additional support strategies are implemented. These may involve learning support interventions, wellbeing referrals, or adjustments to the training plan.

Reasonable Adjustments

When a student requires reasonable adjustment due to disability or other significant need, ACBI works collaboratively with the student to identify appropriate modifications. These may include adjusted materials, alternative assessment formats, or flexible delivery schedules. All agreed adjustments are formally recorded, and trainers or assessors involved are informed of their responsibilities. Where reasonable adjustments cannot be implemented without compromising the integrity of assessment outcomes, this is documented and explained to the student. A student may be considered to face significant disadvantage if their LLND skill levels fall more than two levels below the course requirement or if multiple barriers to participation are identified.

Access and Equity

Access and equity refer to ACBI's commitment to ensuring that all students are provided with fair and inclusive opportunities to participate in vocational education and training, regardless of their personal circumstances or background. This includes actively identifying and removing barriers that may disadvantage students based on factors such as gender, age, cultural or linguistic background, disability, socio-economic status, geographic location, or prior educational experience. ACBI adopts inclusive policies and practices that support diverse learning needs, promote respect and understanding, and ensure that reasonable adjustments are made to accommodate individual requirements without compromising the integrity of training or assessment outcomes. Access and equity are central to fostering a supportive learning environment where all students can thrive and succeed.

Inclusive Learning

Inclusive practice is embedded in all training and assessment activities. Staff are expected to maintain cultural awareness and undergo training in inclusive education practices. Learning materials are reviewed to ensure they are culturally appropriate and respectful of student diversity. Feedback from students on inclusivity is welcomed and used to refine delivery practices.

All learning and assessment materials are reviewed annually to ensure they reflect inclusive language, cultural sensitivity, and diverse learner needs.

ACBI fosters culturally safe learning environments, especially for First Nations students. Learning resources and practices are reviewed for cultural safety.

Training staff are encouraged to reflect culturally safe and inclusive practices in their delivery, including respect for First Nations perspectives, accessible communication, and inclusive learning examples.

Promoting Wellbeing

ACBI also focuses on promoting student wellbeing. Based on the nature and background of the student cohort, strategies are implemented to ensure wellbeing needs are supported. Cohort needs are identified via enrolment data, LLND assessment patterns, support referrals, and student wellbeing feedback. Students are provided with information on internal and external support services for physical and mental wellbeing. ACBI has in place mechanisms to prevent and respond to incidents involving abuse, harassment, or violence, and ensures that both ACBI-managed and third-party facilities are safe, inclusive and supportive.

Wellbeing strategies may also address emotional resilience, motivation, peer connection, and confidence-building for students facing personal or academic pressures.

Referral and Crisis Support

Student Services maintains a list of national referral services such as Lifeline (13 11 14), Kids Helpline (1800 551 800), Reading and Writing Hotline (1300 6 555 06), Centrelink, and Legal Aid. Students are assisted to access these as appropriate.

Support for Overseas Students

CRICOS students receive an orientation covering legal rights, emergency contacts, academic and personal support, and accommodation arrangements. ACBI ensures compliance with the National Code including support for under-18s.

Continuous Improvement

The effectiveness of training support services is reviewed annually. Feedback from students, input from staff, and student progress outcomes are all evaluated. Where gaps are identified, services are improved and all actions are documented in the Continuous Improvement Register.
